

19

overlap each other so that back surfaces thereof face each other;
means, associated with said hinge for fixedly setting said cover at an arbitrary angle to said main body case; and 5
a hinge groove disposed along an outer periphery of said main body case to guide the position of said hinge.

20

6. A portable computer according to claim 5, wherein said hinge groove is arranged at a rear end portion of said main body case.

7. A portable computer according to claim 5, wherein said hinge groove is offset from a rear end portion of said main body case toward a central portion of said main body case.

* * * * *